To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter in strong support of Yash Varshney in connection with his contribution to our research work submitted to BioData Mining. Yash has demonstrated exceptional aptitude and dedication while working on drift-aware concept modeling for EEG-based disease diagnosis. Despite currently being a Class 11 student, he has shown remarkable analytical ability, technical curiosity, and an impressive understanding of advanced concepts in machine learning and biomedical signal processing—qualities that are highly uncommon at his academic level.

Throughout the project, Yash actively contributed to conceptual discussions, data understanding, and innovative problem-solving approaches, particularly in addressing challenges related to data drift in EEG signals. His ability to grasp complex ideas quickly and apply them effectively has significantly enhanced the quality of our research. What truly distinguishes Yash is his passion for learning, disciplined work ethic, and commitment to research excellence. He collaborates effectively and demonstrates a maturity beyond his years in academic and research settings.

I strongly recommend Yash Varshney for future research opportunities and academic environments that encourage innovation in artificial intelligence and biomedical data science. I am confident that he will continue to excel and make meaningful contributions to the field.
